Introduction

1. This policy provides a framework and guidance for programme teams involved in the organisation and management of work-based and placement learning (WBPL). While it provides a degree of underlying standardisation, it is also intended to be sufficiently flexible to allow the specific requirements of individual programmes and any Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies (PSRBs) to be met. The way in which WBPL is organised and managed will vary according to specific programme aims and learning outcomes, and their related learning, teaching and assessment strategies. This policy should therefore be considered in conjunction with the Programme Specification and more detailed documentation that is approved at programme validation and re-approval which will establish specific arrangements at programme level. Specific arrangements for apprenticeship provision are outlined in the Degree Apprenticeship Quality Assurance Framework Documentation.
2. This framework is informed by, and is consistent with the Expectations, Practices and Guiding Principles of the UK Quality Code for Higher Education (May 2018), including the Advice and Guidance on Work-Based Learning (November 2018), the Advice and Guidance on Partnerships (November 2018) and the ASET Good Practice Guide for Work Based and Placement Learning in Higher Education (2013). The QAA 2018 Advice and Guidance for work-based learning defines WBPL as ‘authentic structured opportunities for learning which are achieved in a workplace setting or are designed to meet the learning needs of the employees, developing their knowledge, skills and professional behaviours, and also meeting the workforce development needs of the organisation’.
3. WBPL plays a vital role in supporting educational outcomes and enhancing graduate employability and is a key component of the University’s programmes especially for example Foundation Degrees and Apprenticeships. The learning outcomes that will be achieved through WBPL, whether specific or general, should be relevant, purposeful, and clearly defined for each individual programme. Programme teams should ensure that WBPL opportunities are designed to meet the needs of students and apprentices, developing their knowledge, skills, and professional behaviours.
4. WBPL can take many different forms and can range from a single module or part of a module within a programme to an entire programme that is work-based, such as Apprenticeships or Foundation Degrees. Arrangements to provide WBPL can involve a number of partners, with the nature of the relationship varying significantly depending on the programme and the needs of the student.
5. This policy applies to any and all placement, work based learning or related provision by or on behalf of Plymouth Marjon University and includes:
 - i. Learning that involves employers in the commissioning of ‘live’ briefs or projects
 - ii. Structured work placements or internships
 - iii. Employment situations (paid or unpaid) where the work students undertake will provide a key source for their learning, including remote working and work undertaken in non-employed settings (for example voluntary roles)
 - iv. Integrated work experience often found within programmes that include substantial and sometimes regulated periods of practise-based learning
 - v. Situations where students are also employees, and their programme of study is embedded in the workplace

- vi. Apprenticeships, where the apprentice is employed with an accompanying learning development programme where the employer provides the apprentice with the opportunity to gain the knowledge, skills and behaviours needed to achieve the professional competence via the University who acts in the capacity of training provider.
6. Where work-based learning counts towards 'credit' the responsibility for setting and oversight of quality and standards sits with the University. WBPL activity will be monitored and reviewed through the University's annual monitoring processes. Programme teams are responsible for the creation of programme placement handbooks which will detail the mechanisms for evaluating WBPL and for securing, monitoring, and reviewing WBPL environments. Placement handbooks should be approved at programme validation / reapproval.
7. Study abroad, including exchanges and student mobility programmes such as Turing are covered by this policy however the approval and agreement of these should be aligned to the University's International Strategy and should be discussed with the International Office.

Definitions

8. Fitness to practise - being suitably qualified and prepared, and demonstrating appropriate skills, conduct, values, and attributes, to perform a particular professional role as recognised by the relevant professional body.
9. Learning outcomes - what a learner is expected to know, understand and/or be able to demonstrate after completing a process of learning.
10. Placement - a planned period of experience outside the institution (for example, in a workplace) to help students to develop particular skills, knowledge or understanding as part of their programme. This can include study abroad and placement / sandwich years
11. Professional, Statutory and Regulatory Bodies (PSRBs) - organisations that set the standards for, and regulate entry into, particular profession(s) and are authorised to accredit, approve, or recognise specific programmes leading to the relevant professional qualification(s) - for which they may have a statutory or regulatory responsibility.
12. Work-based learning - learning that takes place, in part or as a whole, in the context of employment. Work-based learning includes learning by a student that requires engagement with a work environment as either an employee, volunteer or in a self-employed capacity. It includes students on Foundation Degrees, Apprenticeships, students undertaking work experience and students whose projects or assessments involve engagement in a work-based activity.
13. Placement Provider – includes persons, partnerships, companies, institutions, and other organisations providing opportunities for placement or work-based learning
14. Placement Co-ordinator – the member of University staff responsible for agreeing, organising, and managing the work-based or placement learning in line with this policy and associated University regulations, policies and procedures.

15. Placement Supervisor – the person, employed and designated by the placement provider, who is responsible for supervising the student while on placement.
16. Placement Mentor – the person designated to facilitate the student’s professional and personal development in the workplace. Some PSRBs have specific requirements which must be met in relation to mentoring, these should be embedded within any placement agreement.
17. Placement Agreement (sometimes referred to as the Service Level Agreement) – the agreement between the University and Placement Provider which clearly sets out the roles and responsibilities of the University, placement provider and student.

University Guiding Principles for Work-Based and Placement Learning

18. Arrangements for WBPL should be approved at programme validation and re-approval as set out in the University’s Quality Assurance Framework. Any subsequent changes to the validated programme should be submitted for approval via the Programme and Module Modification Procedure. Approval must include consideration of draft handbooks or equivalent for students and for placement providers and where applicable placement supervisors and mentors.
19. All WBPL activity integral to a programme is subject to the University’s Student Regulations Framework. Any programme specific regulations relating to WBPL must be agreed and approved at programme validation / reapproval.
20. During the design, approval and monitoring of programmes with a WBPL or placement element, programme teams must ensure that the following QAA guiding principles are met:
 - i. WBPL elements and opportunities are designed and developed in partnership with employers, students and other stakeholders (i.e. PSRBs and service users where appropriate) and contain learning outcomes that are relevant to work objectives.
 - ii. WBPL consists of structured opportunities for learning and is achieved through authentic activity and is supervised in the workplace.
 - iii. WBPL opportunities are underpinned by formal agreements between education organisations, employers, and students.
 - iv. The University and employers consider any specific issues in relation to the workplace environment and deal with them appropriately, including informal agreements where applicable.
 - v. WBPL is delivered through a meaningful partnership between students, employers, and the University.
 - vi. WBPL opportunities enable students to apply and integrate areas of subject and professional knowledge, skills, and behaviours to enable them to meet programme learning outcomes.
 - vii. All parties understand and respect the respective roles, responsibilities and expectations of the University, employer and student and appropriate training and support is provided where required.
 - viii. The University and employers acknowledge students have unique needs and collaborate to ensure opportunities are inclusive, safe, and supported.

- ix. WBPL opportunities are designed, monitored, evaluated, and reviewed in partnership with employers.

21. In addition, programme teams should ensure that:

- I. Placement and work-based learning are aligned to relevant external reference points (UK Quality Code for Higher Education, PSRB guidelines etc.), University regulations and policies and any relevant legislation and are approved through the usual quality assurance mechanisms.
- II. Placement and work-based learning are credit rated with appropriate learning outcomes that contribute to the overall aims and learning outcomes of the programme and/or module(s).
- III. Placement and work based learning and its contribution to module and programme outcomes will be made explicit in programme documentation, including programme specifications, and considered as part of the programme approval and annual monitoring processes.
- IV. Programmes have in place arrangements for the quality assurance of placement and work-based learning opportunities and the standards of student achievement must be overseen by appropriately qualified external examiners.
- V. Where employers or their representatives are involved in the monitoring of student progress and/or the assessment of student work, relevant induction and training must be provided. In some cases, a formal partnership may need to be instigated. Employers and their representatives must be provided with written information, regarding their roles, responsibilities, and rights.
- VI. Foundation Degree and Apprenticeship programmes where work-based learning is provided either through the student's own workplace or through a placement, must specify how time in placement is to be organised and the degree of flexibility around this, ensuring that all students have equal opportunities to access learning opportunities and develop skills.
- VII. Students undertaking placement and work-based learning must be prepared for, and supported in, both their placement learning activities and, if applicable, their return to the University. They should be provided with written information regarding their roles, responsibilities, and rights.
- VIII. Mechanisms must be in place to secure feedback about the placement or work-based learning experience from students, University staff and employers/providers.
- IX. Mechanisms must be in place to deal with complaints from students, employers/providers and/or University staff.
- X. Careful consideration must be given to the management of risks relating to health and safety, quality and other risks associated with the specific proposals for a given programme.

22. The Programme Leader is responsible for ensuring that the above principles underpin practice relating to placements and that placements are organised efficiently, effectively and in line with this policy and the requirements of the OfS, QAA, PSRBs and any relevant legislation (health and safety, equal opportunities etc).

Selecting and Approving Placement Settings

23. The University has a risk-based approach for all partnership work, including WBPL. Programme Teams are responsible for formalising all placement settings via a formal placement agreement which clearly outlines the areas of responsibility for both the University and placement provider.

24. The University's risk-based approach ensures that as WBPL integration increases, any increased risk is mitigated by the implementation of increasingly formal agreements with the placement provider. This will normally take the form of a formal placement or service-level agreement.
25. Where a student is tasked with finding a work-based experience as part of a credit-bearing placement module the Programme Team must ensure that the proposed workplace will allow the intended learning outcomes to be achieved and to check the suitability of the workplace in terms of legislative requirements. The risk assessment form (annex 2) should be completed as part of this process.
26. In selecting new placement settings, the following principles should be observed:
 - i. New placements should normally have been in existence for a minimum period of six months to ensure that the setting has established systems and routines and that staff members are confident in their own roles as practitioners.
 - ii. Arrangements should enable a placement supervisor to be appointed who should meet the minimum professional requirements of the relevant PSRB where these apply.
 - iii. Placements should demonstrate a strong commitment to equality of opportunity and meet the requirements of relevant legislation.
 - iv. Under the Health and Safety at Work Act (1974), the health and safety provision in any placement must meet at least minimum health and safety requirements to ensure the personal safety of students and safe practice in their work with clients, members of staff, the public, tools, equipment, machinery, chemicals, etc, noting that primary responsibility for the management of the health and safety for a student while on the placement rests with the placement provider.
 - v. The placement coordinator is responsible for confirming that any new placements, whether identified by the programme team or secured by a student, have the capacity to provide a suitable learning experience for the student and sufficient opportunities for them to demonstrate achievement of the specified learning outcomes.
27. The placement coordinator should gather information on potential risks and control measures as part of an initial risk assessment exercise (annexes 1 and 2). The following six factors should be considered as part of this risk assessment:
 - i. Work factors: the nature of the work the student will undertake, the hazards to which they may be exposed and associated control measures.
 - ii. Travel and transportation factors: any health, safety and/or welfare issues associated with the student travelling to and from the placement.
 - iii. Location and/or region factors: whether there are any increased or atypical risks in the location of the placement, especially if overseas.
 - iv. Health and environment factors: any health, safety and/or welfare issues associated with the environmental conditions in the workplace or general location.
 - v. Individual student factors: factors such as physical and mental health and knowledge, skills and experience that could have an impact on health and safety in particular environments and may require reasonable adjustments (for example to procedures, activities and/or physical environments) and/or bespoke support (recognising the importance of an inclusive approach to the provision of WBPL opportunities).

- vi. Insurance limitations: the extent and limitations of the insurance arrangements in place.
28. The outcomes of the risk assessment should be clearly documented. If risk levels are identified as high in relation to any of the six factors identified above, or if there is insufficient information to make a reliable judgement, a more detailed risk assessment should be undertaken, which may include a preliminary visit to the proposed placement by the placement coordinator or a member of the programme team in order to determine the suitability of the setting against agreed health and safety criteria.
29. When considering placements abroad, consideration should be taken of legislation appropriate to the country concerned and consideration of any particular risks associated with the specific region and location. The University's Risk Assessment Tool for Student Exchange should be completed for all international WBPL or study abroad opportunities.
30. In determining the suitability of placement settings, the following criteria should be met. Placements should:
- i. provide an appropriate, positive working environment which is conducive to learning and provides opportunities for identifying good practice.
 - ii. provide sufficient opportunities for students to demonstrate achievement of the intended learning outcomes.
 - iii. have an appropriate number of suitably qualified staff to act as placement supervisors, mentors or equivalent.
 - iv. meet the requirements of any relevant PSRBs.
 - v. have a sound and fully operational equal opportunities policy.
 - vi. be able to make reasonable adjustments for students with disabilities in accordance with the University's Regulations, and provide such students with comparable levels of support to that provided by the University.
 - vii. provide evidence that Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) checks are in place where required.
 - viii. have an adequate standard of facilities and physical resources to ensure that the learning needs of students can be met.
 - ix. have an appropriate health and safety policy, procedures, and practices.
 - x. have Employers Liability Insurance.
31. Any placement setting unable to fulfil the above criteria should not be used. If a placement proves untenable, an alternative placement should be sought and any students affected should be given support and guidance in line with the University's Student Protection Plan. In some cases, a validated alternative may be available if it is not possible for a placement to take place.

The Placement Agreement

32. Any WBPL activity must be underpinned by a formal placement agreement. The placement agreement must be agreed and signed by the University, the student and the placement provider before the placement commences. This agreement will set out the expectations, intended learning outcomes, roles, and responsibilities of each party.

33. Annex 5 sets out the requirements which must be met by placement agreements. It is likely that programme teams will wish to add in additional clauses particularly in respect of any PSRB requirements however these should be added to the standard template (annex 6) and approved by the placement coordinator. Subject to all 'essential' requirements being met, all 'optional' requirements duly considered and all requirements of this policy fulfilled the Dean / Director of School can sign the placement agreement on behalf of the University. Placement Agreements along with the completed risk assessment form (annex 2) and placement provider agreement form (annex 1) and checklist should be retained centrally by the Placement Team.
34. For those students completing study abroad the University's Collaborative Provision Regulations and Procedures shall apply. Programme Teams should liaise with both the International Office and Quality and Academic Standards Unit as early as possible to ensure that the correct documentation is completed.

Managing WBPL opportunities

35. WBPL opportunities may be arranged in different ways and by different people depending on the length and breadth of the experience required by the programme. Students may secure their own placement, or these may be identified and / or allocated by a member of University staff. In all cases a designated member of University staff must oversee the management of all WBPL experiences.
36. Deans / Directors of School in liaison with the placement coordinator must ensure there are named individuals with responsibility for the management, approval, support and monitoring of WBPL.
37. The Placement Coordinator plays a significant role in the management and oversight of WBPL. The responsibilities of the Placement Coordinator / Programme Team normally include:
 - i. Ensuring risk assessment of WBPL opportunities is completed;
 - ii. Arranging and / or approving WBPL opportunities;
 - iii. Supporting students in identifying relevant WBPL opportunities;
 - iv. Briefing students on WBPL requirements and student responsibilities
 - v. Ensuring a record of students in placement is maintained normally via InPlace;
 - vi. In the case of Tier 4 students, monitoring and reporting to Student Records any changes in students circumstances whilst on placement;
 - vii. Providing advice and guidance to staff, students, placement providers and supervisors/mentors in relation to WBPL;
 - viii. Supporting students during the WBPL experience;
 - ix. Visiting/contacting students during the WBPL experience as required;
38. Record keeping is an essential element of the management of WBPL experiences and accurate and up-to-date records must be maintained, including details of placement providers, risk assessments, health and safety questionnaires, any formal placement agreement, student details, the period and duration of the WBPL activity and their progress during the WBPL. These should be stored and maintained centrally and where applicable within InPlace.

Health and Safety

39. The University is legally responsible for the safety and wellbeing of its students while on placement or during any WBPL activity. The University must take reasonable steps to ensure that all WBPL environments are compliant with statutory health and safety requirements. As a minimum this should ensure that the placement provider has:
- i. A written health and safety policy that is currently in force (where five or more people are employed)
 - ii. Suitable and sufficient risk assessments with risks suitably controlled
 - iii. Appropriate accident and incident procedures
 - iv. First aid equipment and the required number of trained first aiders.
40. Primary responsibility for the management of health and safety for a student while on a placement lies with the placement provider. Students undertaking WBPL experiences should be treated as equivalent to one of their own employees in relation to health and safety matters for the duration of the activity and placement providers should ensure that students are suitably inducted.
41. Programme teams have a duty to ensure that students undertaking a placement with a placement provider are not exposed to avoidable risk and that the placement meets any learning requirements. Placement providers must confirm that they take proper account of health and safety considerations. Requirements relating to health and safety must be covered in the placement agreement.
42. Student pre-placement briefings, induction sessions and written guidance for students and placement supervisors should include advice on relevant health and safety issues relating to the placement. This should include encouraging the student to learn how to assess and manage risk as an integral part of their learning and development experience while on placement. All students should complete the Health and Safety Induction Checklist (annex 3).

Insurance Cover for Students on Placement

43. Insurance cover for students on placement is the responsibility of the placement provider and must be in place before any students can attend their placement. Evidence of this should be confirmed via the University's risk assessment form (annex 2). All placement providers must have sufficient Employers Liability Insurance in place and evidence of such provided and placed on file.

Safeguarding and Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS)

44. All University staff and students who work with children and adults in vulnerable situations, including students on placement or work-based learning opportunities have a responsibility for keeping them safe. The University has clear policies on safeguarding, including processes for checking where DBS is required (see the Safeguarding Policy and Student and Programme Compliance Policy).

45. WBPL which involve engagement in regular and unsupervised activity with children or in certain adult settings may require students to undergo an enhanced DBS check and gain satisfactory DBS before they start their WBPL experience. For some University programmes an enhanced DBS will be required prior to the student commencing their programme.
46. DBS checks are normally arranged through the University's Registry Services. Programme teams should discuss any DBS requirements with the Registry and Compliance Manager during the design of the programme. The placement coordinator should ensure that all students completing WBPL have gained satisfactory DBS prior to commencement of the WBPL experience.
47. Students must be fully briefed on safeguarding prior to the WBPL experience and should be provided with both the University's and placement provider's Safeguarding policies and procedures. Programme specific safeguarding processes must be supplied where applicable.

Fitness to Teach

48. It is a requirement under The Education Act (2002) for the health of all applicants to teaching courses to be assessed. The aim of the fitness to teach requirement is to ensure that a future teacher has both the physical and mental fitness to perform their duties without putting children and young people at risk. Fitness to teach must be completed before students commence placement.

Fitness to Practise in a Health and Social Care setting

49. It is a requirement under The Health and Social Care Act 2008 (Regulated Activities) Regulations 2014, that service providers only employ 'fit and proper' staff who are able to provide care and treatment appropriate to their role and to enable them to provide the regulated activity. Fitness to practise must be completed before students commence placement.

Working with placement staff

50. Placement staff must feel supported, confident and well informed about supervising and, where relevant, assessing students. Communication networks between the University and partner should be established as soon as a setting is accepted as a potential WBPL environment, and the roles and responsibilities of relevant placement and University staff should be established.
51. Comprehensive written guidance in the form of a handbook should be emailed to all placement supervisors and/or placement mentors in advance of students commencing their WBPL experience. This written guidance should be updated regularly. Handbooks should contain at least the following information, plus any necessary programme specific and/or PSRB requirements, guidance or information:

52. Information about the programme and associated placement requirements, for example:
 - i. general structure and outline of the programme.
 - ii. programme aims and intended learning outcomes.
 - iii. aims and intended learning outcomes for the placement experience.
 - iv. the relationship between practice obtained and theory taught.
 - v. range, organisation and pattern of placements.
 - vi. the process of sourcing a placement and the students role in that process.
 - vii. processes and procedures for approving WBPL and the consequences of not securing (or of losing) a placement.
 - viii. student responsibilities while on placement.
 - ix. opportunities to provide feedback on their WBPL.
 - x. student entitlements whilst on placement.
 - xi. information on whistleblowing and/or raising concerns about specific matters whilst on placement.
 - xii. complaints procedure and relevant University policies, procedures and regulations.
 - xiii. any PSRB requirements.
 - xiv. the extent and limitations of the student role, as well as the level of skill and experience of students.
 - xv. dates of block placements and/or semester start and finish dates and days for regular weekly placements.
 - xvi. details of the criteria and monitoring system for ensuring the continuing quality of the placements.

53. Guidelines on the role of the placement supervisor or mentor, for example:
 - i. their status and formal responsibilities.
 - ii. information on the relationship with the University or partner institution and programme team.
 - iii. details of relationships with PSRBs.
 - iv. strategies which might be employed to assist student learning.
 - v. resources to be acquired / maintained (where applicable).
 - vi. resources provided by the University (where applicable).
 - vii. their managerial relationship with / supervision of students.
 - viii. details of their role as supervisor or mentor and in supporting students.
 - ix. appropriate placement induction for students.
 - x. negotiation of a placement agenda for individual students.
 - xi. details of placement assessment strategies and criteria and the Supervisor or Mentor's expected contribution to assessment (when there is any involvement of Placement Provider staff in summative assessment, roles should be clearly defined and appropriate training should be provided by the University or partner institution).
 - xii. information on insurance and health and safety requirements for students.

54. Information to support communication between the placement and the University, for example:
 - i. programme team and placement coordinator names with telephone numbers and email addresses.
 - ii. advance information on students joining their setting (i.e. brief personal details as appropriate).

- iii. programme attendance policy.
 - iv. protocol for recording student attendance and dealing with concerns relating to student absence.
 - v. programme strategy to enable supervisors and/or mentors to deal effectively with worrying situations relating to their student(s) such as alleged cases of professional misconduct in placement within and, where applicable, outside normal working hours.
 - vi. means of communicating issues with regard to student performance.
 - vii. expectations for members of the programme team visiting students, including the specified number and/or frequency of visits and mechanisms for monitoring the student experience of placement provision and opportunities.
55. Placement providers should receive copies of any student handbook or guidelines, and links to relevant University policies and procedures and the Student Regulations Framework. This should include as a minimum the Health and Safety Policy, the Equality and Diversity Policy, the Safeguarding Policy, the Complaints Procedure and the Fitness to Practise Procedure.
56. There should be regular formal, as well as informal, liaison between the programme team and placement staff. The nature and frequency of this should be sufficient to ensure that key information is communicated between all parties in a timely manner. Expectations for the nature and timing of communications between programme and placement staff should be agreed in advance of the start of the placement. Where appropriate, representatives from placement providers may be invited to attend briefing or update sessions, programme meetings and/or become involved in curriculum development and review at the University.
57. A contact person should be identified within each placement, which may be the placement supervisor or mentor, or may be another designated member of staff in larger organisations. Protocols to communicate significant change such as the status of placements, the number of students who can be accommodated and any other changes which might affect the experience of students should be established and recorded in the Placement Agreement.
58. It is the programme team's responsibility to ensure that placement staff are aware of their roles and responsibilities in relation to the education process as it is affected by the University's quality assurance framework, student regulations framework, relevant policies and procedures, and the requirements of relevant PSRBs and/or other external bodies. Placement supervisors and/or mentors should be encouraged to contact University staff via the placement coordinator promptly with any concerns they may have regarding a student's progress or performance.
59. Placement supervisors, placement mentors and University staff should work together to ensure that helpful and accurate feedback is collated and provided to students. Placement staff should be encouraged to provide feedback that recognises individual strengths as well as areas for development. A feedback form which encourages positive and constructive feedback on students' performance should be developed by programme teams.

Work-based and placement learning for students with a disability

60. If any special requirements are needed by a student who has a disability, the student and the programme team should be advised to consult the University's Disability and Inclusion Advice

Service (DIAS). Any additional requirements or reasonable adjustments should be discussed and agreed with the placement provider in advance of the WBPL experience. The University's DIAS can provide advice but it remains the responsibility of the programme team or placement coordinator to discuss relevant matters with the placement provider.

61. University staff should ensure permission is sought from students before disclosing information on disabilities or other protected characteristics to placement providers. In some instances, there may be a legal obligation to share information regarding the nature of a disability with placement providers, particularly if the disability has implications for the health and safety of the student or others. Advice must be sought prior to the commencement of the placement from the University's DIAS.
62. Programme teams are responsible for liaising with DIAS to determine funding eligibility for additional support for students with a disability, for example a BSL interpreter or a sighted guide, well in advance of the placement.

Dealing with concerns and planning for contingencies

63. It is important that any potential issues or concerns related to placement activity are addressed as promptly as possible and escalated as appropriate. To facilitate this, it is important that the means of contacting University staff is clear to placement staff and is included in the written guidelines for placement supervisors and/or placement mentors. Any emerging issues or concerns should be communicated to the University as a matter of priority via the placement coordinator.
64. Programme teams should establish protocols to support placement supervisors and/or placement mentors in dealing with irregular incidents which might:
 - i. cause difficulties for placement staff and their clients/patients/children etc.
 - ii. have educational consequences for an individual student on the programme.
 - iii. have relationship and/or reputational consequences for the University, and/or the placement provider.
 - iv. have legal consequences for any party.
65. Placement supervisors should be made aware of the University's Safeguarding Policy and the responsibility that this places on the student to escalate any concerns that they have. They should also be made aware of the University's Fitness to Practise Procedure and Complaints Procedure.
66. Students should be provided with details of the means for contacting University staff in the event of any issues or concerns about their WBPL experience, including a 24/7 telephone number to contact the University in the event of an emergency whilst on placement. Contingency plans should be put in place in case there are exceptional circumstances, particularly where the WBPL experience is abroad (for example medical aid and possible repatriation following injury or illness).

Confidentiality

67. Many placements will involve interactions with patients, clients, children and/or pupils. Their protection must always be regarded as a priority. Their rights, especially to confidentiality, should be discussed with students during induction/tutorials and included in their handbook. Students should also be alerted to expectations regarding their professional conduct whilst on placement, and the consequences of not meeting those expectations in terms of the Fitness to Practise Procedure. Students should be required to sign a form developed by the programme team for the purpose of protecting patient, client or children's confidentiality and other applicable rights.
68. Protection of the student's privacy and any expectations of confidentiality should be discussed with placement supervisors and/or placement mentors and set out in the written guidance for placement staff.

Placement induction, guidance and support for students

69. There must be a thorough induction programme for students prior to their first WBPL experience, adapted as necessary to reflect the level of risk involved. Subsequent induction for additional or specialised WBPL should also be made available.
70. Students must be supported in their WBPL experience by regular contact with the placement coordinator and programme team, in accordance with the method and frequency of contact agreed prior to the commencement of the WBPL experience. This is most commonly provided in the form of scheduled placement tutorials and visits by members of the programme team, and/or via e-mail correspondence. Such occasions provide a forum for discussing individual student's strengths, progress, needs and concerns; they can also be used to identify aspects of a student's practice which warrant improvement, and to ensure an appropriate variety of experience.
71. Placement issues, to be discussed with students during induction and/or placement tutorials, include:
 - i. an overview of the programme / module placement structure, management, organisation and PSRB requirements.
 - ii. the aims, learning outcomes and value of the placement experience.
 - iii. the range of placements used.
 - iv. dates of block placements / semester start and finish dates for regular weekly placements.
 - v. attendance requirements and formal procedures for notification of absence.
 - vi. explanation of need for, and procedures relating to, DBS checks / disclosure forms / learning contracts.
 - vii. protocol for advance visit to, or initial contact with, placement (i.e. in advance of a student's official commencement date).
 - viii. what students might expect on entry to / induction at placement.
 - ix. travel arrangements to placement for individual students, costs and, where applicable, reimbursement procedures.
 - x. role and responsibilities of students, and requirements of professional codes of practice in placement, for example:

- i. their responsibility as a representative of the University and their programme.
- ii. recording and reflecting on progress and achievements in meeting their learning outcomes.
- iii. ethical issues, especially confidentiality and protection and rights of clients / children / patients.
- iv. their responsibility in the context of the University's Safeguarding Policy to report to the Placement Supervisor and relevant member of University staff any incidence or allegation of abuse involving children, young people and/or vulnerable adults of which they become directly or indirectly aware.
- v. the confidentiality of placement information not in the public domain and the requirement to seek authorisation for its use outside of the placement where necessary, for example as part of assessment.
- vi. where appropriate, the need for the student to sign a confidentiality form.

Monitoring of student attendance and performance in placement

73. Student attendance during placements must be monitored and auditable evidence made available. Placement supervisors or mentors should be encouraged to email the placement coordinator / programme team if they have concerns about a student's absence from placement.
74. The programme team should ensure that mechanisms are in place to formally monitor and assess students' performance in their placements. These may include:
- i. regular visits by programme staff (formally recorded).
 - ii. assessment meetings (formally minuted) with individual students and placement supervisors or mentors.
 - iii. completion of practice evidence records.

Dealing with complaints

76. Students should be made aware of the University's Student Complaints Procedure at Induction and links to this should be signposted within the Virtual learning Environment (VLE) and Placement Handbook. Placement staff should also be provided with a link to the Student Complaints Procedure. Students should be encouraged to resolve any complaint informally in liaison with relevant University or placement staff at the earliest opportunity before embarking on the formal complaints procedure. The University's Complaints Procedure should be followed for all formal student complaints.

Evaluation of placement experience

77. Feedback from students and Placement Providers should be obtained at the end of each placement, for example through questionnaires or group / individual discussions. Any issues arising from the review of placements should be considered at Programme Voice Panel meetings and feed into the Annual Monitoring process. Any concerns or good practice should be identified and raised to the University Board of Studies (UBoS) through Academic School Reports. Feedback from External Examiners (who may in some cases have the opportunity to visit placements) should also be used in the review of the placement experience. In some instances, data on the effectiveness of placements will also be provided through the National Student Survey (NSS) and mid-module and end of semester evaluation.
78. Consideration should be given to the overall placement experience, including the effectiveness of the placement in enabling the student to engage in authentic structured opportunities for learning and demonstrate achievement of the intended learning outcomes. Other factors worthy of consideration include:
 - i. the availability of suitable placements and any instances in which placing students proved a challenge.
 - ii. the identification of any good practice in terms of placement processes which is worthy of dissemination.
 - iii. preparation of students and placement staff for their respective roles.
 - iv. the quality of support provided by placement and University staff.
 - v. the effectiveness of communication between University and placement staff.
 - vi. students' views on health and safety arrangements while on placement, including any incidents or concerns.
79. This evaluation activity should inform reviews of risk assessments for individual placement providers. These reviews should be conducted at appropriate intervals dependent upon the perceived level of risk associated with the placement. Any concerns arising from the process should be investigated and resolved before any further placements are approved. Concerns should be raised to the University Board of Studies via the relevant Dean / Director of School.

Terminating an arrangement with a Placement Provider

80. Where it becomes necessary to terminate an arrangement with a Placement Provider, at the instigation of the University or the provider, the implications for students of ceasing the placement should be carefully considered in line with the University's Student Protection Plan. All students taking part in the placement should be formally notified of the decision and the associated timescales for ceasing the arrangement, and full guidance and support should be provided to enable them to continue with their programme and demonstrate achievement of the required learning outcomes.

Structure

All placement learning agreements should ensure that the obligations of (i) the student; (ii) the University; and (iii) the placement provider are clearly set out and, if this is covered by more than one agreement, that each of the above parties is aware of the obligations of the other.
